

Intamac CEO Invited to Speak at Australia's Premier Security Event

Features keynotes from ADT, BBC, Telstra and the Australian Federal Police

Northampton July 10th 2007 – Kevin Meagher, CEO of Intamac Systems, the Northampton-based internet accessed control and monitoring specialist, has been invited to speak at ASIAL, Australia's premier security industry event – which is being held at the Sydney Convention & Exhibition Centre in Darling Harbour, July 10th-12th 2007 - <http://www.asial.com.au/>

Now entering its 22nd year, ASIAL is an international conference and exhibition that will feature keynote speakers from companies such as: ADT, BBC, Telstra and the Australian Federal Police. Meagher will be a member of the Emerging Technologies panel, discussing and answering questions on the latest developments in security systems.

“We have recently entered the Australian market through enabling IAG - Australia and New Zealand's largest general insurance provider - to launch Intamac-based home and security monitoring as part of their portfolio of services to customers. As such, ASIAL is an excellent platform for us to demonstrate the services that we offer,” comments Meagher. “I am confident that the speaker panel will allow us to further raise the profile of Intamac as a key player both in Australia and on a global scale”.
